

Stages of life: the clock is ticking...

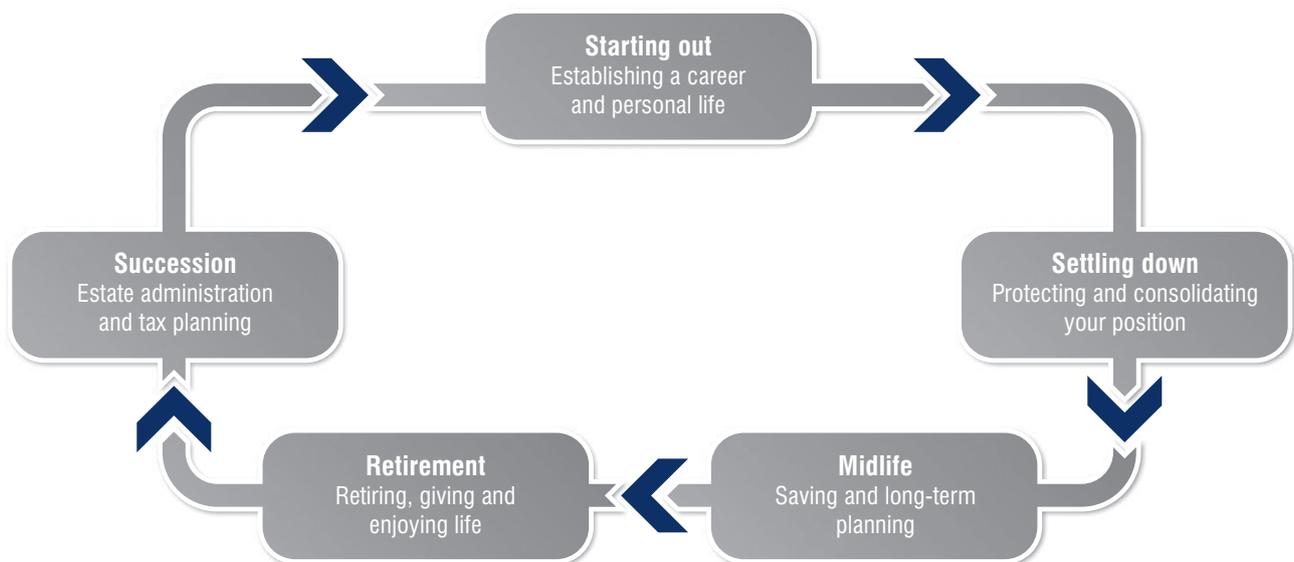

Introduction

Throughout our lives we face personal and financial choices that impact on us as well as on those around us.

At Moore Thompson, we recognise that certain choices tend to present themselves at particular stages of life, whilst others crop up consistently. We are here to guide you through both the good times and the bad, giving you and those around you the complete advice and support required for peace of mind now and in the future.

We have identified five key stages which recognise the various needs that you have at different times in your life:

On the following pages, we take a more detailed look at each stage and identify the life events that typically occur and the assistance we can provide.

Of course these key stages may apply not only to your own life, but also to the lives of those you care about – parents, grandparents, children, grandchildren and other relatives or friends.

That is why Moore Thompson offers a 'one stop' wealth management advice and estate legacy service, ensuring that your whole family is taken care of, even when you are no longer around.

We work hand in hand with representatives from our independent financial services business, MT Financial Management, ensuring the solutions provided are tailored to your individual circumstances.

Furthermore, as such matters include legal as well as financial considerations, we would be happy to work with you and your legal providers.

Please contact us to find out how we can help you.

Case study

Not long after she graduated from university, our client received some inheritance from a trust set up on her grandmother's death.

She bought her first house with her boyfriend and her parents helped fund the deposit.

Her parents were keen to ensure that their and their daughter's contributions towards the house were protected in the event that the relationship broke down.

The team's advice included:

- ◆ Guidance on the house purchase.
- ◆ Assistance with documenting the ownership of the house, making it clear who owned what share and setting out the procedure to be followed in the event of a break up.
- ◆ Helping to prepare a Will to ensure the client's share of the house and other assets passed in accordance with her wishes on death.
- ◆ Preparing a loan agreement for the parents' contribution since they were not financially ready to gift it to our client but, equally, did not want to have a share in the house.

Our client came to us about six months before his marriage. The balance of wealth was extremely unequal between him and his wife, and they had agreed to put in place a pre-nuptial agreement to regulate the division of their assets in the event of divorce.

He also had two young children from a previous relationship and thought he and his wife would have children in the future.

The team's advice included:

- ♦ Advising on the pre-nuptial agreement.
- ♦ Helping to prepare a Will to ensure that the children would have a fair and proper provision on his death.
- ♦ Arranging appropriate life cover, effectively written in trust to ensure sufficient funds for our client's family to be financially secure on his death.
- ♦ Advising on the need for guardians for infant children.
- ♦ Explaining the terms of various family trusts of which our client was a beneficiary.

Case Study

Having recently sold a business and invested some of the proceeds in a holiday home abroad, our client knew it was time to review the Will he made a while ago, particularly in view of his recent marital difficulties.

He had also recently lost his mother and was concerned that the inheritance he was due to receive would worsen his own tax position.

The team's advice included:

- ◆ The sale of the business and related tax advice.
- ◆ Assistance with UK and foreign Wills.
- ◆ Tax advice both in the UK and abroad.
- ◆ The administration of his late mother's estate.
- ◆ A deed of variation to redirect part of his inheritance to his children to save inheritance tax.
- ◆ Tax-efficient gifts.
- ◆ Advice on investments and the use of his inheritance.
- ◆ Assistance with Lasting Powers of Attorney authorising our client's chosen attorneys to take financial, health and welfare decisions for him should he become incapable.
- ◆ Advising our client on how his inheritance would be treated in the event of divorce from his wife.

Life Stage 4: Retirement...

Case study

Our clients were in good health physically, but unfortunately one of them was in the advanced stages of Alzheimer's. His wife wanted the upcoming move to a smaller house to be their last one.

The aim was to protect their wealth for the next generation by saving inheritance tax and care fees. They didn't want to gift too much and worry about their standard of living later on.

The team's advice included:

- ◆ Assistance with updating our client's Will so that funds would not pass directly to her incapacitated husband, but were there for his benefit.
- ◆ Advice on registering the Lasting Power of Attorney with the Court of Protection so that attorneys could manage our client's finances.
- ◆ Rearranging their finances to meet their new situation (while not infringing the 'deprivation of assets' legislation).
- ◆ Planning their finances including the final drawing down of the wife's pension.
- ◆ Establishing a trust for their grandchildren, gifting manageable and tax efficient amounts to it each year.

Life Stage 5: Succession...

Priorities

Efficient and sensitive estate administration and tax planning

Life Events

- ◆ Bereavement
- ◆ Reviewing inheritances
- ◆ Receiving inherited property
- ◆ Passing wealth down the generations
- ◆ Asset protection for the young, elderly and vulnerable
- ◆ Protection for reckless beneficiaries
- ◆ Disputes regarding Wills, estates and inheritances

Legal, Tax and Financial Planning Services

- ◆ Administration of estates
- ◆ Deeds of variation
- ◆ Post-death inheritance tax mitigation
- ◆ Assistance in resolving contentious Wills, estates and trusts

Case study

Our clients had lived together as 'man and wife' for many years, but had never married. He incorrectly thought that he didn't need a Will because everything would pass to his partner automatically. He died intestate, unintentionally leaving his estate to his estranged brother.

The team's advice included:

- ◆ Helping bring a claim against the estate to receive some financial provision for the surviving partner. We secured a sizable portion of the estate without the need to go to Court.
- ◆ Assistance with making a new Will so that the surviving partner could be sure her intended beneficiaries received what she wanted to leave them.
- ◆ Advising the surviving partner on the implications for her Will when her adult son announced that his wife and he were divorcing, and advising her son on the pros and cons of mediation in divorce proceedings.
- ◆ Advising on a pre-nuptial agreement should the surviving partner choose to remarry, as well as on a new Will, in order to safeguard her children's inheritance.
